

ABOUT THE AUTHORS

VIRGIL C. ALDRICH: Before joining the Department of Philosophy at the University of North Carolina in 1965, Professor Aldrich taught philosophy at Rice, Columbia, Brown, the University of Michigan, and Kenyon College. He also directed the Kyoto American Studies Seminar in Japan. He has served as President of the American Philosophical Association, Western Division, and Chairman of the Publications Committee of that organization. He was awarded the L.H.D. degree by Ohio Wesleyan. He has published widely in philosophical journals and is the author of Philosophy of Art.

VAN METER AMES: Having gone through the University of Chicago's educational steps from the first grade to the Ph.D. in 1924, Professor Ames joined the Department of Philosophy of the University of Cincinnati in 1925. He is presently head of the department and Obed J. Wilson Professor of Ethics, and is also Fellow of the Graduate School. He has served as visiting professor at Cornell, the University of Texas, and the University of Hawaii. Following a Rockefeller grant in 1948 to study contemporary French philosophy, he taught at Aix-Marseille in 1949. He taught at Komazawa (a Soto Zen university in Tokyo) while on a Fulbright research grant in 1958-59. He served as President of the Western Division of the American Philosophical Association in 1959-60, and President of the American Society for Aesthetics in 1961-62. He has contributed to philosophical journals and is the author of Aesthetics of the Novel; Introduction to Beauty; Out of Iowa (a poem); Proust and Santayana; André Gide; Japan and Zen (with Betty B. Ames); Zen and American Thought; and editor of Beyond Theology: The Autobiography of Edward Scribner Ames.

CLIFFORD BARRETT: Before taking on the duties of Chairman of the Department of Philosophy at Scripps College and Claremont Graduate School, Professor Barrett taught at Princeton and at the University of California in Los Angeles. He also held appointments at the College of William and Mary, and at Harvard, and served as Honors Examiner at Swarthmore College. He edited and contributed to Contemporary Idealism in America, and is the author of Ethics; Philosophy; and Government of Law; and of a forthcoming book, Norms of a Rule of Law.

CORNELIUS A. BENJAMIN: Professor Benjamin received his undergraduate and graduate education at the University of Michigan, and also studied at the Sorbonne and Cambridge University. Before joining the University of Missouri, where he was Chairman of the Department of Philosophy for many years, Professor Benjamin taught at the University of Chicago. He is a past President of the American Philosophical Association, Western Division. He has held a Guggenheim Fellowship, and is a Fellow of the American Association of Arts and Sciences. Besides numerous contributions to scholarly journals, his publications include: Logical Structure of Science; Introduction to the Philosophy of Science; Operationism; and, most recently, Science, Technology, and Human Values.

GEORGE BOAS: Awarded the B.A. and the M.A. in English from Brown University, Professor Boas' advanced degrees are in philosophy, the M.A. from Harvard, and the Ph.D. (1917) from the University of California. He holds honorary degrees from five other universities and colleges. He is a member of the American Philosophical Association, the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, and an honorary member of the Académie Royale de Belgique. Emeritus Professor of Philosophy at Johns Hopkins University, he continues to teach in universities across the nation. His books include: Wingless Pegasus; Dominant Themes of Modern Philosophy; The Inquiring Mind; The Limits of Reason; The Challenge of Science; What Is a Picture? (with Harold H. Wrenn); and The Heaven of Invention.

CAMPBELL A. GARNETT: Born in Australia, Professor Garnett has taught at the University of Adelaide, at Butler University in Indianapolis, and, from 1937-65, at the University of Wisconsin, where he served as Chairman of the Department of Philosophy. He is now teaching at Texas Christian University. In 1960-61 he was President of the Western Division of the American Philosophical Association. The most recent of his numerous publications are: The Moral Nature of Man; Religion and the Moral Life; Ethics: A Critical Introduction; and The Perceptual Process.

CHARLES HARTSHORNE: After receiving the B.A. from Haverford (1921) and the Ph.D. from Harvard (1923), Charles Hartshorne studied in Germany at the universities of Freiburg and Marburg. He has taught at Chicago, and at Emory, and held visiting appointments at Stanford University, New School for Social Research, the University of Melbourne, the University of Washington, and Kyoto University. He is presently Ashbel Smith Professor of Philosophy at the University of Texas. He has served as President of the Western Division of the American Philosophical Association, and of the Southern Society for Philosophy and Psychology. He is co-editor, with Paul Weiss, of the first six volumes of The Collected Papers of Charles S. Peirce, and is the author of The Philosophy and Psychology of Sensation; The Divine Relativity (Terry Lectures, Yale);

The Logic of Perfection (which was awarded the Lecomte de Nouis prize); Anselm's Discovery; and of many other books and articles.

CHARLES WILLIAM HENDEL: Awarded the B.Litt. (1913) and the Ph.D. (1917) by Princeton University, Professor Hendel has also studied at Marburg University and the College de France. He has taught at Princeton, and at McGill, where he served as Chairman of the Philosophy Department and Dean of the Faculty of Arts and Sciences. Presently Sheldon Clarke Professor of Moral Philosophy and Metaphysics Emeritus at Yale University, he served formerly as Chairman of the Department of Philosophy of that university. In 1962-63 he delivered the Gifford Lectures in Natural Theology at the University of Glasgow, Scotland. He has served as President of the American Philosophical Association, and of the American Society for Political and Legal Philosophy. His publications include: Studies in the Philosophy of David Hume (two editions); Jean-Jacques Rousseau: Moralism; Civilization and Religion (Rockwell Lectures at Rice); Freedom and Authority; The Philosophy of Kant and Our Modern World; and John Dewey and the Experimental Spirit in Philosophy.

CHARLES MORRIS: Beginning his teaching career in philosophy at The Rice Institute in 1925, Charles Morris went to the University of Chicago in 1931, and since 1958 has been Research Professor in Philosophy at the University of Florida. He is a Fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, and the author of Signs, Language, and Behavior; Paths of Life; Varieties of Human Value; and Signification and Significance. Professor Morris did his graduate work in philosophy at the University of Chicago during the last years of the "Chicago School" of pragmatism, and is now writing a book on the pragmatic movement in philosophy.

GLENN R. MORROW: Professor Morrow received the A.B. from Westminster College (1914), and the Ph.D. from Cornell University (1921). He has taught at Cornell University, the University of Missouri, the University of Illinois, and the University of Pennsylvania. He was an American Field Service Fellow in Paris, a Guggenheim Fellow in Athens, and a Fulbright Scholar in Oxford. He served as President of the Western Division of the American Philosophical Association in 1939, and of the Eastern Division of the same organization in 1953. Besides many articles in journals, Professor Morrow is the author of the following books: The Ethical and Economic Theories of Adam Smith; Studies in the Platonic Epistles (two editions); Plato's Law of Slavery; and Plato's Cretan City.

JAMES STREET FULTON: Holding the B.A. and the M.A. from Vanderbilt University, and the Ph.D. from Cornell (1934), Professor Fulton taught at McGill University, at Shrivensham, and at Yale University before coming to The Rice Institute in 1946. He has been Chairman of the Department of Philosophy at Rice since 1956, and has also served since 1957 as Master of Will Rice College, and, during 1964, as Acting Dean of Humanities. He is the author of Science and Man's Hope, and articles in scholarly journals.

KONSTANTIN KOLENDA: Professor Kolenda received the B.A. from The Rice Institute in 1950, where he was introduced to philosophy by R. A. Tsanoff. For three years he was Susan Linn Sage Fellow in Philosophy at Cornell University, and received the Ph.D. degree from that university in 1953. That year he joined the staff at Rice, where he is now Professor of Philosophy. As a Fulbright Scholar he lectured on American philosophy at the University of Heidelberg in 1959-60. In addition to articles in scholarly journals, his publications include a translation of Arthur Schopenhauer's Essay on the Freedom of the Will, and a book entitled The Freedom of Reason.